MESSAGE FROM OUR CHAIRMAN

Dear Colleagues,

The EBME (Electronic and biomedical engineering) conference and exhibition started in 2009 as a way of improving healthcare through the sharing and application of knowledge from experienced professionals involved in the management of healthcare technology.

The EBME Expo 2019 will feature a conference and exhibition with excellent speakers in the conference hall, and innovative and internationally respected companies in the exhibition hall. We will also have smaller exhibition spaces to cater for smaller companies with innovative new products. It is always a pleasure to meet so many delegates and exhibitors each year, and we look forward to seeing you at our 10th Anniversary on 3rd & 4th April 2019, which I am honoured to be chairing. The organising committee have chosen a new venue, The Milton Keynes Arena, which is bigger than the previous venue, guarantees a worthwhile experience for both delegates and exhibitors.

The theme for 2019 will focus on what the latest healthcare technology can do to improve patient outcomes. Our conference programme will feature six speakers each day, with two keynote speakers. Besides this, there will be workshops in break out areas. We also expect our exhibitors to provide technical demonstrations, and there will be numerous opportunities for informal networking.

Best regards

Dr. John Sandham

ABOUT THE ORGANISERS:

The EBME (Electronic and Biomedical Engineering) website, www.ebme.co.uk encompasses a community of healthcare practitioners responsible for the management, procurement, maintenance, and user training for a wide range of medical equipment used in healthcare organisations.

The EBME website was registered in 1999 and is an independent educational resource for the general biomed community. Membership is free, thanks to the support of sponsors who value the biomed community and are proud to be putting something back into it.

In addition to the wealth of free information available in the articles, news items, downloads area, job adverts, events notices, press releases and products/services directory, there is a busy forum area which allows members to share information, chat and discuss technical issues in the same way that many EBME departments actually communicate. www.ebme.co.uk currently has 9,200+ members and welcomes new members and guests to the site every day.

BtoB Events is a dynamic exhibition organiser, created by the former divisional director for Africa of a FTSE 100 organisation within the exhibition industry.

The company has a fast-paced ethos with ambitious growth plans across the globe. With the wealth of experience possessed by the company founders within the exhibition industry and across the international market, having overseen exhibitions across 4 continents, BtoB Events is well placed to make a big impact on the global exhibitions industry.
